Transco Plans For Maintaining Gas Supply

Houston, Dec. 4 - Agreements were announced today under which 750 million cubic feet per day of Algerian liquefied natural gas would be delivered by El Paso Natural Gas Company to Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation for eventual use in the eastern and western parts of the United States. The companies stated that 375 million cubic feet daily of the gas would be used by Transco in serving its eastern U. S. market area. Transco will redeliver the remaining 375 million to El Paso at a point in South Texas for use in El Paso's western U. S. markets.

It is anticipated that deliveries to Transco will commence in mid-1977. The LNG will be delivered by El Paso to Transco at a mutually agreeable point on the Eastern Seaboard. Contractual arrangements are through subsidiaries of the two companies.

G. Montgomery Mitchell, President of Transco, said that the imported LNG will constitute one segment of its multi-phase program to maintain Transco's gas supply for its customers in the face of the energy shortages that are confronting the country.

Howard Boyd, chairman of the board of El Paso Natural Gas, said the new agreement would also provide – for the first time – benefits of imported LNG to the western third of the nation presently served by his company.

El Paso said it plans to construct a 450-mile large-diameter pipeline from a point on Transco's pipeline in South Texas to West Texas, where its portion of the gas will be delivered into the company's existing system.

El Paso will purchase the LNG from Sonatrach, the Algerian national oil and gas firm, at the port of Arzew in western Algeria.

Applications will be filed in the near future with the Federal Power Commission for approval of importation of the additional volumes of gas.

Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corporation owns and operates an interstate pipeline system for the purchase, sale, and transportation of natural gas. Its main pipeline system extends from the Texas and Louisiana Gulf Coast through the southereastern states to the Pennsylvania-New Jersey-New York metropolitan areas. Essentially all of its sales are to utility customers in eastern and southereastern states.

El Paso Natural Gas Company is a diversified natural gas transmission firm which serves customers in 11 western states through a 23,500-mile pipeline network. In addition, it has interests in the fields of petrochemicals, plastics, synthetic fibers, textiles, agricultural chemicals, insurance, wire fabrication, oil and gas production, land development and mining.
